MEMORANDUM

October 26, 2011

TO: Division I Football Student-Athletes with Remaining Eligibility.

FROM: Rachel Newman Baker
Managing Director of Enforcement

Steve Mallonee
Managing Director of Academic and Membership Affairs.

SUBJECT: Information Regarding the 2012 National Football League (NFL) Draft, Tryouts, and Agents.

We understand that you may have remaining intercollegiate eligibility, but may also have a desire to "test the waters" as it relates to your pursuit of a potential professional football career. You will attempt to gauge your readiness for competition at the next level through a variety of methods, including tryouts with professional teams and you will undoubtedly rely on a number of individuals to assist in the decision-making process.

At the end of this process, you may in fact reach the conclusion that it is not in the best interest to pursue a professional career at this time, but rather to continue athletics participation at the intercollegiate level while pursuing your academic degree.

Involvement in activities during this process can affect your intercollegiate eligibility. The following information is designed to help you protect your eligibility while you "test the waters."

Key Dates:

- College Advisory Committee evaluation request deadline (to ensure an evaluation is completed): December 16, 2011.
- College Advisory Committee evaluation request final deadline (with no guarantee that an evaluation will be completed): January 4, 2012.
- Early-entry deadline for underclassmen: January 15, 2012.
- Early-entry withdrawal deadline for underclassmen: 72 hours after early-entry deadline (midnight January 18, 2012).
- NFL Combine: February 22-28, 2012, in Indianapolis, Indiana.
- 2012 NFL Draft: April 26-28, 2012, in New York.

Frequently Asked Questions

Entering the draft

1. Am I allowed to enter the NFL Draft early?

YES! You may enter the NFL Draft one time during your collegiate career without jeopardizing your eligibility; provided you are not drafted by any team and you declare your intention to resume intercollegiate participation within 72 hours following the NFL's draft declaration date. This declaration of intent must be in writing to your director of athletics. Players that enter the NFL Draft early are required to sign, and have notarized, a petition for special eligibility with the NFL, which renounces all remaining collegiate eligibility unless revoked within 72 hours of the draft declaration date.

2. May I request information from the NFL about my potential draft status without jeopardizing my eligibility?

YES! If you are seriously considering petitioning for special eligibility to enter the NFL Draft, you may request a confidential draft evaluation from the NFL without jeopardizing your eligibility. The NFL has a College Advisory Committee comprised of high-level personnel evaluators from the NFL's clubs and the League's two sanctioned scouting organizations. Through this program, student-athletes who are at least three years out of high school may receive a limited assessment of their potential to be drafted by objective, experienced professionals who have no financial interest at stake. Players who are "just curious" of their potential draft status or who are interested in obtaining an evaluation for insurance reasons are not eligible for this service. Players will be advised of one of the following by the committee: (a) that you have the potential to be drafted as high as the first round, (b) that you have the potential to be drafted as high as the second round, (c) that you have the potential to be drafted as high as the third round, (d) that you do not have the potential to be drafted in the first three rounds, or (e) that you do not have the potential to be drafted. The committee's evaluation is a nonbinding best estimate and does not guarantee that a player will be drafted in a specific round, or at all. This evaluation will not include strengths, weaknesses, or how a player may improve. Players may request an evaluation upon conclusion of their collegiate regular football season. In order to ensure that an evaluation is completed, requests should be received by the College Advisory Committee no later than Friday, December 16. Though requests will be accepted through Wednesday, January 4, there is no guarantee that an evaluation can be completed for requests received after December 16. A representative of the commissioner's office will contact the player and his head coach with the projected draft round. Results are not given to agents, family members, media, or NFL clubs.

NFL Combine and Tryouts

3. Am I allowed to participate in the NFL Combine in February and maintain my eligibility?

NO! The NFL Combine occurs from February 22-28, which is after the deadline for withdrawing from the NFL Draft. Only players who have committed to entering into the NFL Draft are allowed to participate in the NFL Combine.

4. Can I participate in private workouts/tryouts with professional teams if school is still in session?

YES! You may tryout with a professional football team (or participate in a combine including that team) during the academic year if you are enrolled full-time, so long as you don't miss class; the tryout does not exceed 48 hours; and you have not received more than actual and necessary expenses from the team. (Note: Similar restrictions apply during the summer.)

5. Can I participate in on-campus "pro days" for NFL teams if school is still in session?

YES! Participation in on-campus "pro days" for NFL teams is considered participation in a tryout for an NFL team. If you are enrolled as a full-time student at the institution you may participate in these workouts provided that you don't miss any class time.

6. Can professional football teams pay for my private workouts/tryouts?

YES! You may receive actual and necessary expenses from the NFL team in conjunction with one 48-hour tryout per team (or combine including that team). The 48-hour tryout period begins when you arrive at the tryout location. At the completion of the 48-hour period you must depart the location of the tryout immediately in order to receive transportation expenses.

7. Can I pay for my own private workouts/tryouts with professional football teams?

YES! A tryout may extend beyond 48 hours if the individual self-finances additional expenses, including return transportation. A self-financed tryout may be for any length of time, provided you don't miss class and the workouts are entirely self-financed.

8. Can any other individual (e.g., agent, runner, or "advisor") pay for my private workouts/tryouts with professional teams?

NO! Unless an NFL team pays for your expenses in conjunction with a private workout or tryout, you and your family are responsible for paying all expenses associated with any tryouts as they are incurred.

Agents

9. What is an "agent" according to NCAA rules?

An individual would be considered an "agent" if the individual markets your football skills to any NFL team or other professional teams (e.g., contact NFL teams to discuss your skills, set up tryouts with NFL teams).

10. Am I allowed to have any type of agreement with an agent?

NO! You are not permitted to have a written or oral agreement with an agent, or anyone who is employed by or acting on behalf of an agent or sports agency (i.e., "runner").

11. What is an "oral agreement" with an agent?

An oral agreement occurs if you verbally agree to have an agent marketing your football skills on your behalf OR you have knowledge that an agent is performing such services.

12. Is an agent allowed to contact teams on my behalf to arrange private workouts or tryouts?

NO! You cannot have an agent arrange a private workout/tryout with an NFL team.

13. Can my family members or other individuals who are associated with me as a result of playing football (e.g., high school coach, summer football coach, etc.) have an agreement with an agent to perform services on my behalf?

NO! Family members and other individuals are not permitted to enter into any agreements with an agent on your behalf.

14. Am I allowed to have an agreement with an agent if it is for future representation?

NO! You are not permitted to agree to a future representation agreement with an agent.

15. Is an agent allowed to provide me any benefits?

NO! You, your family, or your friends are not permitted to receive any benefits from an agent. Examples of material benefits include money, transportation, dinner, clothes, cell phones, jewelry, etc. However, benefits may also include, but are not limited to, activities such as tryout arrangements with a professional team and coordinating tryout schedules.

16. Am I permitted to have an advisor during this process?

YES, provided the advisor does not market you to NFL teams. However, it is not permissible for the advisor to contact teams on your behalf to arrange private workouts or tryouts. (Note: if you receive assistance from an advisor, you must compensate the advisor in an amount equal to the value of the services he or she provides you; furthermore, you may not receive such services at a free or reduced rate without jeopardizing your eligibility, regardless of whether the advisor does not typically charge clients for such services.)

17. May a sports agent or booster play a role in securing a loan to pay for disability insurance?

NO! Do not allow a third party (including a sports agent or a booster) to be involved in any arrangement for securing a loan to pay for disability insurance. However, an institution's president or chancellor (or his or her designated representative from outside the department of athletics) may designate an institutional staff member (or staff members) (e.g., professional sports counseling panel) to assist you with arrangements for securing the loan and insurance.

18. Can an institution cancel my athletics scholarship if I have an agreement with an agent?

YES! An institution is permitted to rescind your athletics scholarship if you have an agreement with an agent.

19. What is the National Football League Player's Association (NFLPA) rule regarding agent contact?

An NFLPA certified agent, or any representative or person affiliated with an NFLPA certified agent, including "runners"/recruiters, financial advisors and marketing representatives is prohibited from speaking to individual prospective players or presenting to groups of prospective players who are ineligible for the NFL Draft.

20. What will happen to me if an agent contacts me in violation of the NFLPA rule regarding agent contact?

Under the NFLPA rule, an agent is not allowed to contact prospective players that are ineligible for the NFL Draft. However, the NCAA does not prohibit this contact, and a student-athlete would not be punished for communicating with an agent while ineligible for the draft, as long as the student-athlete, and his family and friends, do not have an agreement for representation with the agent, and do not receive any benefits from that agent or any of his representatives.

Five Points to Remember:

You will lose your eligibility IF:

1. You agree orally or in writing to be represented by an agent or any individual acting on behalf of the agent [e.g., runner].
2. You accept any benefits from an agent, a prospective agent or any individual acting on behalf of the agent [e.g., runner].
3. If you participate in a tryout with a professional team that lasts longer than 48 hours, which you have not personally financed.
4. If you tryout with a professional team during the academic year and miss class.
5. If you enter the draft AND do not take the appropriate steps to withdraw and declare your intention to resume intercollegiate participation.

Helpful Tips:

- You should keep your head coach and compliance coordinator informed of all activities during this process.
- Be careful who you associate with during this process. Do it all yourself or work through your head coach. You may receive the assistance of your family members, provided they are not working with any individual who is marketing your athletics ability (e.g., contacting NFL teams, setting up tryouts with NFL teams).

- If you do not have knowledge of who arranged a tryout, you have a responsibility to find out who did.
- The NFL's College Advisory Committee has had a great amount of success serving in a limited advisory capacity for underclassmen seriously considering early entry into the NFL Draft. Student-athletes who are planning to petition for special eligibility should first request an evaluation by the College Advisory Committee for an objective, realistic evaluation of draft potential. Between 1994 and 2011, 1,661 players were evaluated by the College Advisory Committee and 69.0 percent of the players evaluated elected to remain in school. Since 2007, 86.2% of underclassmen who were evaluated as having draft potential lower than the third round, or not likely to be drafted at all, chose to remain in school. The NFL's College Advisory Committee can be reached at the following address: College Advisory Committee, Attention: Player Personnel Department, National Football League, 280 Park Avenue, New York, New York 10017, Phone: 212/450-2215.
- You should remain in school and complete your academic courses while you "test the waters."
