

Amateurism Certification Basics

MEN'S AND WOMEN'S SKIING

What the Eligibility Center reviews:

- Timeline of all team and individual competition.
- Agreements for funding, apparel or equipment sponsors.
- Breakdown of prize money and expenses for each calendar year.

What is Delayed Enrollment?

- For Division I, PSAs will lose one season of competition for every one-year period a PSA participates in organized competition after their 21st birthday.
- For Division II, PSAs will lose one season of competition for every one-year period a PSA participates in organized competition after three 12-month periods (36 months) following their expected high school/secondary school graduation and before enrolling full time in a college or university.*

PSAs may jeopardize their eligibility for Division I if they:

- Reach an agreement with an agent (written, verbal or for future representation).
- Accept benefits or services of any kind from an agent.
- Receive more payment than expenses to compete on a team.
- Compete on a professional team.
- Accept more prize money than expenses in a calendar year.
- Receive funding for training not tied directly to competition or practice in preparation for competition.
- Sign an apparel, equipment or sponsorship agreement that provides for more than the PSA's actual and necessary expenses.

*Competition during the PSA's second and third 12-month periods must be sanctioned by the U.S. Ski and Snowboard Association or its international counterparts.

All post-college or university prize money received before Jan. 21, 2017, even if less than expenses, is impermissible.

PSAs may jeopardize their eligibility for Division II if they:

- Reach an agreement with an agent (written, verbal or for future representation).
- Accept benefits or services of any kind from an agent.
- Compete on a professional team after the PSA has enrolled full time at a college or university.
- Accept more prize money than expenses for any event after the PSA enrolls full time at a college or university.
