Asjha Jones and the Connecticut defense stifled Tennessee in the national championship game, allowing only 10 points in the first 13 minutes of play. The Huskies claimed their second national title with a 71-52 win.

Basketball

DIVISION I

2000 Championship

Highlights

Huskie Hustle: Pressure defense and quick hands helped Connecticut steal an early, insurmountable lead over Tennessee and claim the Division I Women's Basketball Championship April 2 in Philadelphia, 71-52.

The Huskies built a 15-point lead a little more than 12 minutes into the first half, and Tennessee could never recover. The Lady Vols, who had been averaging 80 points per game, took 13 minutes to reach 10 points in the national title game.

The Huskies were led by the Final Four's most outstanding player, Shea Ralph, who set the tone for her team defensively with six steals and added 15 points and seven assists to the victory.

Connecticut earned its second national title five years to the day after its first championship win in 1995. The Huskies finished the season with a 36-1 record and avenged their only loss of the season at the hands of the Lady Vols, February 2, 72-71.

All-Tournament Team: Ralph was joined on the all-tournament team by teammates Sue Bird, Svetlana Abrosimova and Asjha Jones. Tennessee's Tamika Catchings was also honored.

DIVISION II

2000 Championship

Highlights

Norse Survive Overtime: Northern Kentucky captured its first Division II Women's Basketball title by defeating North Dakota State, 71-62, in the first overtime game in tournament history March 25.

In addition to making the Norse the first team outside of the state of North Dakota to win the title since 1992, the victory also extended Northern Kentucky's winning streak to 24 games.

"This is one of the few times I have ever been speechless," Nancy Winstel, Northern Kentucky's head coach, said. "It's a dream come true for me and for every player and every coach. I told them before the game that they can play not to lose or they can play to win. We've been playing to win all year long."

Michelle Cottrell scored six of her game-high 23 points in the overtime period to seal the win en route to most outstanding player honors. She also had 19 rebounds. Teammate Michele Tuchfarber, who joined her on the all-tournament team, finished with nine points, six rebounds, four assists and three steals.

All-Tournament Team: Besides Northern Kentucky's Cottrell, the most outstanding player, and Tuchfarber, the all-tournament team included North Dakota State's Jayne Boeddeker and Jayne Even. Delta State's Caroline Bocclair and Western Washington's Celeste Hill were also honored.

All-American Alia Fischer helped drive Washington (Missouri) to its third straight title March 18.

Basketball

DIVISION III

BASKETBALL

2000 Championship

Highlights

Bears "Three-peat:" The Bears claimed several firsts with their 79-33 win over Southern Maine in the national championship game. Washington (Missouri) became the first Division III women's basketball team to win three titles in the 19 years of the championship and claim the longest winning streak, 68 games, of any basketball team at any division, men's or women's.

Washington (Missouri) all-Americans Alia Fischer and Tasha Rodgers each had two fouls early in the championship game and were forced to the bench just four minutes into the title tilt. Without two of their starters, the Bears still managed a 38-17 lead at the half.

Overcoming first half foul trouble, Fischer and Rodgers finished the game with 13 and 14 points in the game, respectively. Senior Beth Ruether led all scorers with 16 points.

All-Tournament Team: Fischer and Rodgers were both named to the all-tournament team for Washington (Missouri), while Trish Ripton was honored for Southern Maine. Jennifer Ulstad of St. Thomas (Minnesota) and Kelly Halpin of Scranton were also named to the team.
