2018 CHAMPIONSHIP

HIGHLIGHTS

Notre Dame fencing clinched its 10th national title: The Fighting Irish boast the first back-to-back titles for the first time in 40 years. The program also added an individual champion, as freshman Nick Itkin captured the men's foil crown.

The Fighting Irish finished the competition with 185 points, just one behind their point total when winning in 2017. Columbia finished second in 170, followed by Ohio State (147), Penn State (137) and Harvard (129).

They clinched the championship in the fifth round with a 5-4 win by sophomore epeeist Ariel Simmons over Johns Hopkins' Tiger Gao.

The 2018 crown is the second national title for head coach Gia Kvaratskhelia, and his third as part of the program. He was also an assistant coach on Janusz Bednarski's staff during the 2011 title run.

How It Happened

Foil

The reigning Atlantic Coast Conference men's foil champion, Itkin paced the field on the national stage, taking the top seed into the semifinals after going 18-4 with a +58 indicator, which bested the next closest competitor by +23. Teammate Axel Kiefer earned the fourth seed with a 15-7 record, earning a trip to meet Itkin in the semifinal bout.

Itkin continued his dominance in the semifinal bout, leading 11-3 after the first period en route to a 15-4 victory.

In the final, Itkin met Columbia's Sam Moelis, who earned the second seed and had defeated Itkin 5-4 during the round robin. The Irish rookie was ready, though, taking an 8-2 lead after the first period and jumping head 14-8 after the second en route to his 15-8 title-clinching victory.

Itkin became Notre Dame's first national champion in men's foil since Gerek Meinhardt in 2014.

Iman Blow of Columbia defeated Notre Dame's Sabrina Massialas in the final, 15-13, to take home the top prize. Blow becomes the 36th individual NCAA Champion in Columbia history, and the first since Jake Hoyle won the men's epee title in 2016. She is the first women's fencer to win an individual title since Nicole Ross won the foil championship in 2010, and just the third women's foil NCAA Champion in Columbia history.

Blow dropped a total of three bouts in two days of team competition, punching her ticket to the semi-final round as the number one seed with an outstanding 20-3 record.

Épée

Ohio State senior, Lewis Weiss, finished his fourth NCAA Championship appearance in 11th place. He earned 12 victories and a +6 indicator. Blais Belanger finished the first five rounds in 4th place. He defeated No. 1 ranked Ariel Simmons of Notre Dame 15-14 in the semi-finals. In the finals, Blais Belanger defeated Sean White of St. John's 10-9. The bout went into overtime with each fencer earning seven touches in the first two periods. With three seconds left, Blais Belanger took a one touch lead to earn the epee title.

This is Blais Belanger's first NCAA Championship title. The last time that a Buckeye won the men's epee title was in 2013 when Marco Canevari won in his senior season.

Kaisa Nixon of Princeton was up first in the individual semifinal bouts, and she got past Harvard's Cindy Gao 15-7 to advance to face St. John's' Veronika Zuikova in the final. Nixon was then up again in the épée final, defeating Zuikova 15-13 to win her title.

Sabre

Eli Dershwitz of the No. 2 Harvard men's fencing team became a two-time NCAA Champion in the sabre category. The junior co-captain defeated Wayne State's Ziad Elsissy 15-14 in the final round to clinch his second straight individual crown and become the first men's fencer in program history to win back-to-back titles. Dershwitz helped Harvard to a fifth-place overall finish in this year's tournament.

Dershwitz annihilated his competition during the round robins, posting a perfect 23-0 record and led the sabre category in touch-differential at plus-63 before progressing to the final four. His unblemished record earned him a spot in the No. 1 slot in the finals, first facing Penn State's Andrew Mackiewicz. Dershwitz took down fourth-seeded Mackiewicz 15-9 to advance to the finals against Elsissy. Dershwitz has now earned All-America first team honors in each of his three seasons at Harvard.

Princeton's Maia Chamberlin clinched her title shortly after her teammate, Nixon. Nixon had the chance to be a spectator and a supporter for Chamberlain once her title was clinched.

"It was, I would say, a lot more nerve-racking than actually fencing," Nixon said of watching Chamberlain. "It was really exhilarating, cheering for her, fighting for her, because I knew what it felt like to be out there and I wanted to win for her and with her and everything. It was really great to watch that. I got to experience both sides, on the strip and off the strip, what it felt like. I'm really glad that Maia was able to prove herself too. I know she really wanted it. She was a strong competitor the whole two days."

The Fighting Irish will look to defend their title next year at the 2019 NCAA Championships March 21-24 at The Wolstein Center in Cleveland, Ohio.

Note: In 1990, team scoring was based on standings in weapon team events. In 1991, the scoring system was expanded to allow fencers not qualifying as part of a team to contribute points to team standings through their individual performances. As a result, point values for weapon team standings increased. In 1995, weapon team events were eliminated and team scoring was based on performance in the individual events, and women's épée was added as a fifth weapon. Starting in 1998, team scoring was based on a one-point system. In 2000, women's sabre was added as a sixth weapon.
