

Highlights

Alabama wins first title on final hole: Alabama won its first women's golf title May 25, holding off two-time champ Southern California by a stroke at the NCAA Division I championship on the 72nd hole at the Vanderbilt Legends Club in Franklin, Tenn.

Chirapat Jao-Javanil of Oklahoma won the individual title by four strokes.

The Crimson Tide gave coach Mic Potter his first national title and first for a program in its seventh trip to the national tournament when senior Brooke Pancake rolled in a 4-footer for par on No. 18. Alabama finished at 6-over 294 in the fourth round for a 19-over 1,171 total.

Southern Cal trailed Alabama by 14 strokes after 36 holes and by two going into the final round. The national champs in 2003 and 2008 tied the Crimson Tide five times atop the leaderboard and led by five strokes before losing the lead on the back nine.

Pancake led the way for the Crimson Tide with a 2-under-par score of 286 which put her in second place behind individual champion Chirapat Jao-Javanil from Oklahoma, who finished with a six-under-par score of 282.

"I would take the team championship over an individual one every day," said Pancake, who was heading to Scotland for June's Curtis Cup. "It means the world, especially since I got to have a lot of my family and friends and such support. My grandfather got to be here. Yeah, it is amazing to have ended my college career like this."

Southern Cal had gone up by five strokes reaching 13 over with Alabama at 18 over. The Trojans had three bogeys after a couple shots bounced off the hard green into the water on the par-3 No. 16 and finished with eight bogeys and one double bogey in the final five holes combined to just come up short after Sophia Popov and Inah Park birdied No. 18.

"I felt like we got a couple bad breaks," Gaston said. "I don't think we made some bad shots."

Alabama sophomore Hannah Collier looked at a leaderboard on No. 16 and saw the Tide trailed by five.

"What's left to lose? Might as well swing freely, which Mic always tells me to do," Collier said.

She birdied Nos. 17 and 18 in helping swing the lead back.

After the back-and-forth of the final round, the championship came down to a dramatic final hole. USC's Inah Park rolled in a 5-footer for birdie on 18, pulling Southern Cal within a stroke of Alabama at 20 over.

Pancake laid up on the par-5 18th with her third shot landing in the trees just left of the fairway. Her shot onto the green wound up about 60 feet from the hole, a shot that would have been perfect for the third-round pin. Pancake hit the right side of the cup, and the ball looked like it might go in before going 4 feet past for par. She holed out the par putt to start Alabama's latest celebration.

Jao-Javanil, ranked 59th by GolfStat, shot a 2-under 70 to finish at 6-under 282.
