Question...

Who is the only player to play for two schools in two different Final Four championship games?

Answer...

Bob Bender, former coach at Washington, played in the 1976 title game for Indiana's title-winning team, and two years later scored seven points for Duke in a losing cause to Kentucky in the championship game.

By the way, Steve Krafcsin is the only other player to play in two Final Fours for two different schools. Krafcsin played for North Carolina in 1977 and Iowa in 1980.

THE COACHES

Jim Calhoun has a .703 winning percentage in the NCAA tournament with 45 victories in 21 appearances. The first five appearances were with Northeastern, while the last 16 have been with Connecticut. Calhoun led the Huskies to championships in 1999 and 2004.

Tournament fact

Six times in tournament history teams have appeared in three straight tournaments with three different head coaches. They are: Seattle in 1962-64; Wisconsin 2000-02; Southern Illinois 2003-05; Utah 2003-05; Indiana 2006-08; and Arizona 2007-09. The only team with an active streak is Arizona, which by the way, has a new coach for the 2010 season in Sean Miller.

Lefty Driesell is the only men's basketball coach to win 100 or more games at four different Division I schools during his career. He is also one of only seven coaches to take four different teams to the NCAA tournament.

Elmer Gross was the first NCAA tournament player to later coach a team into the tournament. Gross played for Penn State in the 1942 tournament and coached his alma mater to tournament appearances in 1952 and 1954.

Steve Fisher is the only coach in history to start his career with six straight tournament wins and an NCAA championship. As an assistant coach at Michigan in 1989, Fisher took over the Wolverines heading into the tournament after Bill Frieder left the job to become the head coach at Arizona State. Fisher has been at San Diego State the past 11 seasons.
