DIVISION III WOMEN'S

Highlights

D-III Finals: Emory Starts New Streak: Emory snapped Kenyon's three-year streak of Division III Women's Swimming Championships, outpacing second-place Denison by more than 100 points at the national meet March 17-20 in Minneapolis. Kenyon placed fourth.

Emory last won the title in 2006.

Anne Culpepper's individual title in the 200-yard backstroke and the Eagles' 400-yard freestyle relay victory propelled Emory to the crown.

Emory and Denison had been jockeying for position throughout the meet. At the end of each of the first three days, Denison trailed Emory in the team totals by no more than 46 points.

But the final day offered no waves of respite for the Big Red, as Emory grabbed its third title in the last six years.

"It was a team goal for us that we wanted to make it fun and not concentrate on the other teams," Emory senior Ruth Westby said. "We wanted to concentrate on ourselves so we could swim fast. The only person you can control is yourself. We had an idea (about winning), and we had it in the back of our minds, but really our main focuses here were having fun and swimming fast. Winning was a combination of all that."
