NOTE: CBS broadcast the national championship game from 1982-95 and the national semifinals from 1991-95.

Beginning in 2003, ESPN began broadcasting all 63 games of the championship with the first- and second-round games offered in a whiparound-styled coverage to most of the nation and regional-ized/protected coverage in the home markets of the competing teams. The regional semifinals, regional finals, national semifinals and national championship game are televised nationally.

Tournament History

- 1982 The first NCAA Division I Women's Basketball Championship was conducted with a field of 32 teams, 13 of which were champions of automatic-qualifying conferences. Women's Final Four: Norfolk, Virginia. Teams: Louisiana Tech, Cheyney, Maryland and Tennessee. Louisiana Tech (35-1) defeated Cheyney, 76-62, to claim the first NCAA women's basketball championship in front a crowd of 9,531 and a national television audience on CBS.
- 1983 The championship bracket remained at 32 teams and automatic qualification was awarded to 14 conferences. However, on a one-year basis only, an additional eight conferences played opening-round games to determine the four additional conference representatives that would compete in the first-round games. Women's Final Four: Norfolk, Virginia. Teams: Southern California, Louisiana Tech, Georgia and Old Dominion. Southern California (31-2) defeated Louisiana Tech, 69-67, to win its first NCAA women's basketball championship.
- 1984 The championship format returned to the original format conducted in 1982, with a total of 17 automatic-qualifying conferences. Women's Final Four: Los Angeles. Teams: Southern California, Tennessee, Cheyney and Louisiana Tech. Southern California (29-4) defeated Tennessee, 72-61, to win its second NCAA women's basketball championship.
- 1985 The bracket was comprised of 32 teams, with 17 automatic qualifiers. The Division I Women's Basketball Committee seeded teams No. 1 through 8 on a national basis, with No. 1 and 8 in one bracket, No. 2 and 7 in another, No. 3 and 6 in a third and No. 4 and 5 in the fourth. The remaining teams were seeded No. 1 through 8 within their respective regions; teams were moved outside their natural geographical region only as was necessary to balance the four regional brackets. ESPN televised its first NCAA women's tournament games – the East Regional final in Norfolk, Virginia (Old Dominion 72, Ohio State 68) the West Regional final in Los Angeles (Georgia 97, Long Beach State 82) and the national semifinals in Austin, Texas (Georgia 91, Western Kentucky 78 and Old Dominion 57, Louisiana-Monroe 47; the Old Dominion vs. Louisiana-Monroe game was shown on a tape-delayed basis). Women's Final Four: Austin, Texas. Teams: Old Dominion, Georgia, Louisiana-Monroe and Western Kentucky. Old Dominion (31-3) defeated Georgia, 70-65, to win its first NCAA women's basketball championship.
- 1986 ESPN televised all four regional finals and the national semifinals, while CBS continued to broadcast the national championship game. The NCAA and Host Communications teamed to form the NCAA Radio Network to produce radio broadcasts of the Women's Final Four games. The network consisted of 26 affiliates. The championship was expanded to 40 teams and the number of automatic qualifiers increased from 17 to 18. Women's Final Four: Lexington, Kentucky. Teams: Texas, Southern California, Tennessee and Western Kentucky. Undeclared Texas (34-0) beat Southern California, 97-81, to win its first NCAA women's basketball championship. Rupp Arena became the first facility to host the Men's and Women's Final Fours in consecutive years.
- 1987 The tournament remained at 40 teams, with 19 automatic qualifiers. The tournament consisted of four regional brackets of 10 teams each. The women's basketball committee seeded No. 1 through 8 on a national basis and placed them in the four brackets accordingly. The remaining 32 teams were seeded within their geographical regions. A team could be moved outside its region if necessary to balance the bracket numerically, or if the proximity of an opponent outside its region would be comparable and a better competitive match-up would result. Women's Final Four: Austin, Texas. Teams: Tennessee, Louisiana Tech, Long Beach State and Texas. Tennessee (28-6) defeated Louisiana Tech, 67-44, to win its first NCAA women's basketball championship. The Women's Final Four sold out for the first time with 15,615 in attendance for each session.
- 1988 The bracket remained at 40 teams, with 18 automatic qualifiers. The seeding policy was changed from seeding teams No. 1 through 8, to seeding two tiers of four teams each. Teams in the first tier were the No. 1-seeded teams in each of the four regions. Teams in the second tier were placed in the regional brackets to achieve competitive balance and, when possible, to preserve geographical identity. Women's Final Four: Tacoma, Washington. Teams: Louisiana Tech, Auburn, Long Beach State and Tennessee. Louisiana Tech (32-2) defeated Auburn, 56-54, to win its second NCAA women's basketball championship.
- 1989 The championship bracket expanded from 40 to 48 teams with 19 automatic qualifiers. Women's Final Four: Tacoma, Washington. Teams: Tennessee, Auburn, Louisiana Tech and Maryland. Tennessee (35-2) defeated Auburn, 76-60, to win its second NCAA women's basketball championship.
- 1990 The championship bracket remained at 48 teams, with 21 automatic qualifiers. Women's Final Four: Knoxville, Tennessee. Teams: Stanford, Auburn, Louisiana Tech and Virginia. Stanford (32-1) defeated Auburn, 88-81, to win its first NCAA women's basketball championship in front of the first 20,000-plus-person crowd (20,023) in Women's Final Four history.
- 1991 The championship bracket remained at 48 teams, with 22 automatic qualifiers. Women's Final Four: New Orleans, Louisiana. Teams: Tennessee, Virginia, Connecticut and Stanford. The three Women's Final Four games were all televised on CBS for the first time in a Saturday/Sunday format. Tennessee (30-5) defeated Virginia, 70-67 in overtime, to win its third NCAA women's basketball championship.
- 1992 The championship bracket remained at 48 teams, with 23 automatic qualifiers. Women's Final Four: Los Angeles, California. Teams: Stanford, Western Kentucky, Missouri State and Virginia. Stanford (30-3) defeated Western Kentucky, 78-62, to win its second NCAA women's basketball championship.
- 1993 The championship bracket remained at 48 teams, with 23 automatic qualifiers. Women's Final Four: Atlanta, Georgia. Teams: Texas Tech, Ohio State, Iowa and Vanderbilt. Texas Tech (31-3) defeated Ohio State, 84-82, to win its first NCAA women's basketball championship. The Women's Final Four sold out for the second time with 16,141 in attendance for each session. It marked the first time the event was sold out in advance.
- 1994 The championship bracket was expanded from 48 to 64 teams, and all 32 eligible conferences were awarded automatic qualification. The women's basketball committee seeded 16 teams nationally (i.e., four No. 1 seeds, four No. 2 seeds, four No. 3 seeds and four No. 4 seeds), and the remaining teams were placed in each regional bracket. Women's Final Four: Richmond, Virginia. Teams: North Carolina, Louisiana Tech, Alabama and Purdue. North Carolina (33-2) hit a three-pointer at the buzzer to defeat Louisiana Tech, 60-59, and win its first NCAA women's basketball championship. The Women's Final Four sold out for the third (second consecutive) time with 11,966 in attendance for each session. In December, the NCAA announced a seven-year agreement with ESPN, Inc. to become the exclusive television home of the Division I Women's Basketball Championship and 18 other NCAA championships, beginning with the 1995-96 season. As part of the agreement, the Women's Final Four moved to a Friday-Sunday format, effective with the 1996 championship.
- 1995 The championship bracket remained at 64 teams, and all 32 eligible conferences were awarded automatic qualification. First- and second-round sessions were conducted at the sites of the 16 highest-seeded teams; four teams, including the host institution, were assigned to each site. The women's basketball committee seeded 16 teams nationally (i.e., four No. 1 seeds, four No. 2 seeds, four No. 3 seeds and four No. 4 seeds), and the remaining teams were placed in each regional bracket. Women's Final Four: Minneapolis, Minnesota. Teams: Connecticut, Tennessee, Georgia and Stanford. Connecticut (35-0) defeated Tennessee, 70-64, to win its first NCAA women's basketball championship. The Women's Final Four sold out for the fourth (third consecutive) time with 18,038 in attendance for each session. In July, the women's basketball committee selected the Women's Final Four sites for 1999 and 2000: San Jose, California (San Jose Arena) in 1999 and Philadelphia (First Union Center) in 2000. The committee also awarded the 1998 and 1999 regional sites: 1998 - East (Dayton, Ohio); Midwest (Nashville, Tennessee); Midwest (Lubbock, Texas) and West (Oakland, California). 1999 - East (Greensboro, North Carolina); Midwest (Cincinnati); Midwest (Normal, Illinois) and West (Los Angeles).
- 1996 ESPN purchased the exclusive broadcasting rights to the women's championship and televised 24 championship games (15 on ESPN; 9 on ESPN2). For the first time, all 64 teams were seeded nationally. Each region in the bracket included 16 teams, and each team was placed in the bracket in order of the following seeds: No. 1 vs. No. 16; No. 8 vs. No. 9; No. 5 vs. No. 12 and No. 4 vs. No. 13 in the top half of each bracket; No. 6 vs. No. 11; No. 3 vs. No. 14; No. 7 vs. No. 10 and No. 2 vs. No. 15 in the lower half of each bracket. The NCAA went to three-person officiating crews for all tournament games for the first time. Women's Final Four: Charlotte, North Carolina. Teams: Tennessee, Georgia, Connecticut and Stanford. Tennessee (32-4) defeated Georgia, 83-65, to win its fourth NCAA women's basketball championship. The Women's Final Four sold out for the fifth (fourth consecutive) time with 23,291 in attendance for each session. This marked the highest Women's Final Four attendance in the history of the tournament. The championship game earned a 3.7 rating (or 2.52 million households) on ESPN, the network's fourth-highest-rated college basketball game (men's or women's) in the previous five years.

The women's basketball committee began initial discussions about the concept of predetermined sites for the first and second rounds of the championship.

- 1997 The championship bracket remained at 64 teams, with 30 eligible conferences awarded automatic qualification. ESPN televised 26 championship games (15 on ESPN; 11 on ESPN2). The national championship game attracted a 4.0 rating (2.85 million homes) on ESPN, which was the highest rating for any game on ESPN (men's or women's) since 1990.
- Women's Final Four: Cincinnati. Teams: Tennessee, Old Dominion, Notre Dame and Stanford. Tennessee (29-10) defeated Old Dominion, 68-59, to win its fifth NCAA women's basketball championship. Women's Final Four tickets sold out in four hours. That marked the sixth (fifth consecutive) sellout with 16,714 in attendance for each session.
- In February, the women's basketball committee sent a survey to all Division I directors of athletics and commissioners asking for input on the predetermined-sites concept.
- In June, the women's basketball committee reviewed results of the surveys received from the Division I directors of athletics and commissioners.
- In July and August, the NCAA used a general public ticket drawing for the first time to allot tickets for the 1998 Women's Final Four.

The Women's Final Four sold out for the ninth (eighth consecutive) time with 20,060 in attendance for each session. A record 692 media credentials were issued to media representatives covering the Women's Final Four.
- In January, the Division I Championships/Competition Cabinet reviewed the proposal from the women's basketball committee to implement predetermined first- and second-round sites for the 2001 championship. The cabinet approved the proposal, but it was given a low priority in the budget process.
- In April, the Division I Management Council reviewed the predetermined sites proposal and denied the request for implementation in 2001, but asked for additional financial information for future consideration.
- In June, the women's basketball committee agreed to resubmit the predetermined sites proposal to the Division I Championships/Competition Cabinet for implementation for the 2002 championship.
- 2001 The championship bracket remained at 64 teams, with 31 eligible conferences awarded automatic qualification.
- ESPN increased its tournament coverage to 30 games (16 on ESPN, 14 on ESPN2). The national semifinals achieved their highest household rating (2.3) in the six years the tournament had been on ESPN.
- The Women's Final Four received coverage on ABC's Good Morning America the morning of the national semifinals, featuring ESPN studio host Robin Roberts and Missouri State's Jackie Stiles. The national semifinals and championship game were shown live on the Jumbotron at Times Square in New York.
- Women's Final Four: St. Louis. Teams: Connecticut, Notre Dame, Purdue and Missouri State. Notre Dame (36-2) defeated Purdue, 68-66, to capture its first NCAA championship. The Women's Final Four sold out for the 10th (ninth consecutive) time with 20,551 in attendance for each session.
- For the first time, the national championship team was presented its trophy in a live-for-television ceremony on ESPN.
- In January, the Division I Championships/Competition Cabinet reviewed the revised predetermined-sites proposal. The recommendation was approved in concept, but not given a high priority in the 2001-02 NCAA budget. The recommendation was moved to the agenda for the September 2001 meeting for consideration for inclusion in the 2002-03 budget.
- In July, the NCAA signed a new 11-year agreement with ESPN, granting television rights for 21 NCAA championships, including all 63 games of the Division I Women's Basketball Championship, beginning with the 2003 championship. The women's basketball committee awarded the Women's Final Four sites for 2005-07: Indianapolis (Conseco Fieldhouse or RCA Dome) in 2005, Boston (FleetCenter) in 2006 and Cleveland (Gund Arena) in 2007.
- In August, a record-number of over 14,000 tickets was allotted to the general public in the 2002 Women's Final Four random computerized ticket drawing.
- In September, the Division I Championships/Competition Cabinet approved a format change to move the women's basketball tournament to a Saturday-Monday and Sunday-Tuesday format, beginning in 2003. However, the cabinet tabled review of all budgetary agenda items to its February 2002 meeting because a large portion of its meeting was cancelled because of the September 11 terrorist attacks.
- In October, the women's basketball committee decided that the 2003 regionals would be conducted on the following days: Mideast (Knoxville, Tennessee) and Midwest (Albuquerque, New Mexico) on Saturday and Monday; East (Dayton, Ohio) and West (Stanford, California) on Sunday and Tuesday.
- 2002 The championship bracket remained at 64 teams, with 31 eligible conferences awarded automatic qualification.
- ESPN increased its tournament coverage to 31 games (15 on ESPN, 16 on ESPN2). The national championship game attained its highest household rating with a 4.1, which represented 3,487,000 households.
- The Women's Final Four again received coverage on ABC's Good Morning America and was also featured on ABC's World News Tonight with a piece on Connecticut's bid for an undefeated season. For the second year in a row, the national semifinals and championship game were shown live on the Jumbotron at Times Square in New York.
- Women's Final Four: San Antonio. Teams: Connecticut, Duke, Oklahoma and Tennessee. Connecticut (39-0) defeated Oklahoma, 82-70, to capture its third NCAA Division I women's basketball championship. With the win, Connecticut became the first women's team to achieve multiple undefeated seasons (two), the second women's team to accomplish a 39-0 record (Tennessee also went 39-0 in 1998), the fourth women's team to go undefeated and the 10th Division I men's or women's basketball squad to record a perfect season. The Women's Final Four set its all-time attendance mark of 29,619 in the Alamodome, the first 20,000-plus-seat domed facility to host the event. The Women's Final Four sold out for the 11th (10th consecutive) time with 29,619 in attendance for each session.
- In February, the Division I Championships/Competition Cabinet forwarded the proposal for predetermined sites for the first and second rounds of the 2003 championship to the Division I Management Council and Board of Directors for budgetary consideration.
- In April, the Division I Management Council and Board of Directors approved the predetermined first- and second-round sites proposal. Shortly after approval, bid specifications were sent to every Division I school and conference to submit to the committee for review.
- In June, the women's basketball committee selected the following institutions to serve as the 16 first- and second-round host sites for the 2003 championship: University of Cincinnati; University of Colorado, Boulder; University of Connecticut; University of Georgia; Kansas State University; Louisiana Tech University; North Carolina State University; Old Dominion University; University of Oklahoma; University of Oregon; Pennsylvania State University; Purdue University; University of New Mexico; Stanford University; University of Tennessee, Knoxville; and Texas Tech University.
- In addition, the women's basketball committee awarded the 2004, 2005 and 2006 regionals to the following sites: 2004 - East (Hartford, Connecticut); Mideast (Norfolk, Virginia); Midwest (Norman, Oklahoma) and West (Tempe, Arizona). 2005 - East (Philadelphia); Mideast (Chattanooga, Tennessee); Midwest (Kansas City, Missouri) and West (Seattle). 2006 - (Fairfield, Connecticut); Mideast (Cleveland); Midwest (San Antonio) and West (Albuquerque).
- The women's basketball committee also determined the RCA Dome would be the competition venue for the 2005 Women's Final Four.
- In October, the women's basketball committee distributed the bid specifications for the 2008-10 Women's Final Fours. For the first time, the Women's Final Four bid specifications were sent in a coordinated, joint effort with the Division I Men's Basketball Committee and its Men's Final Four bid specifications.

In December, the women's basketball committee identified the following seven cities as potential sites for the 2008-10 Women's Final Fours: Denver (Pepsi Center), Minneapolis (Hubert Humphrey Metrodome), Philadelphia (First Union Center), San Antonio (Alamodome), St. Louis (Edward Jones Dome or Savvis Center), San Jose, California (HP Pavilion at San Jose), and Tampa, Florida (St. Pete Times Forum or Tropicana Field).

2003 The championship bracket remained at 64 teams, with 31 eligible conferences awarded automatic qualification.

All 63 games, played under the new Saturday-Monday and Sunday-Tuesday format, were televised live on ESPN and ESPN2 for the first time in the championship's history. ESPN offered whiparound-styled coverage of the first- and second-round games to most of the nation with regionalized/protected coverage in the home markets of the competing teams. All first- and second-round games were available in their entirety on ESPN's FullCourt pay-per-view package. Beginning with the regional semifinals, the remaining 15 games were televised nationally on ESPN and ESPN2. The overall tournament (55.4 million viewers) and the Women's Final Four (19.7 million viewers) were the most viewed in eight years on ESPN. The Texas-Connecticut national semifinal game was the most-viewed national semifinal game in ESPN history. The Tennessee-Connecticut national championship game was the fourth most-viewed basketball game (men's or women's) ever on ESPN or ESPN2.

The Women's Final Four again received coverage on ABC's Good Morning America, and for the third consecutive year, the national semifinals and championship game were shown live on the Jumbotron at Times Square in New York.

Women's Final Four: Atlanta. Teams: Connecticut, Duke, Tennessee and Texas. Connecticut (37-1) defeated Tennessee, 73-68, to capture its second straight and fourth overall NCAA Division I women's basketball championship. Connecticut became the first team to repeat as champion since Tennessee won three in a row from 1996-98. The Georgia Dome completed the unique double dip, becoming the second facility to host the Men's and Women's Final Fours in back-to-back years. The Women's Final Four sold out for the 12th (11th consecutive) time with 28,210 in attendance for each session.

In May, the women's basketball committee narrowed the pool to the following four cities to host the 2008-10 Women's Final Fours: Denver (Pepsi Center), St. Louis (Edward Jones Dome or Savvis Center), San Antonio (Alamodome), and Tampa, Florida (St. Pete Times Forum).

In June, the women's basketball committee voted to submit a revised predetermined sites proposal to the Division I Championships/Competition Cabinet that would allow the first- and second-round sessions to be conducted at eight, rather than 16, predetermined sites, beginning with the 2005 championship. The committee also selected the following institutions to serve as the 16 first- and second-round hosts for the 2004 championship: Arizona State University; University of California, Santa Barbara; Duke University; Fairfield University; Florida State University; Iowa State University; Louisiana State University; University of Minnesota, Twin Cities; University of Montana; University of New Mexico; University of Notre Dame; Ohio State University; Temple University; University of Tennessee at Chattanooga; University of Texas at Austin; and Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State University.

In July, the women's basketball committee awarded the Women's Final Four sites for 2008-10: Tampa, Florida (St. Pete Times Forum) in 2008, St. Louis (Edward Jones Dome) in 2009 and San Antonio (Alamodome) in 2010.

In September, the Division I Championships/Competition Cabinet approved that effective with the 2005 championship, the format for first- and second-round sessions be revised to conduct the sessions at eight, rather than 16, predetermined sites.

2004 The championship bracket remained at 64 teams, with 31 eligible conferences awarded automatic qualification.

For the second consecutive year, all 63 games in 31 broadcast windows were televised live on ESPN and ESPN2. Overall, the tournament was the most-viewed (estimated 72.1 million viewers) and highest-rated (1.47 on ESPN and 0.51 on ESPN2) ever. The games on ESPN averaged 1,300,000 households while the games on ESPN2 averaged 445,000 households.

Women's Final Four: New Orleans. Teams: Connecticut, LSU, Minnesota and Tennessee. Connecticut (31-4) defeated Tennessee, 70-61, to capture its third straight and fifth overall NCAA Division I women's basketball championship. Connecticut became the first team to capture three consecutive national titles since Tennessee won three straight from 1996-98. New Orleans became the third city to host the Men's and Women's Final Fours in back-to-back years (Lexington, Ky.: 1985 men's, 1986 women's, and Atlanta: 2002 men's, 2003 women's). The Women's Final Four sold out for the 13th (12th consecutive) time with 18,211 in attendance for each session.

The three games of the Women's Final Four averaged the most viewers (3,801,000 households) and the highest rating (3.4) ever on ESPN. The number of households was a 16 percent increase from 2,583,000, and the rating was a 13 percent increase from 3.0 in 2003. The two national semifinal games averaged 2,545,000 households and a 2.9 rating, to break the highs set in 2003 as ESPN's most-viewed and highest-rated Women's Final Four semifinals. The Connecticut-Tennessee national championship game was ESPN's second most-viewed basketball game – men's or women's, college or professional – in the network's 25-year history, averaging 3,801,000 households. This mark surpassed the previous high of 3,487,000 households for Connecticut's victory over Oklahoma in the 2002 national championship game. The game also marked ESPN's highest-rated women's basketball telecast with a 4.3 average rating.

In June, the women's basketball committee selected the following first- and second-round sites for the 2005 and 2006 championships: 2005 – Reunion Arena, Dallas (University of Texas at Austin and Texas Tech University, hosts); Dean E. Smith Center, Chapel Hill, North Carolina (University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, host); Comcast Center, College Park, Md. (University of Maryland, College Park, host); Save Mart Center, Fresno, California (California State University, Fresno, host); Thompson-Boling Arena, Knoxville, Tennessee (University of Tennessee, Knoxville, host); Williams Arena, Minneapolis (University of Minnesota, Twin Cities, host); Bank of America Arena, Seattle (University of Washington, host); and Harry A. Gampel Pavilion, Storrs, Connecticut (University of Connecticut, host). 2006 – Allstate Arena, Chicago (DePaul University, host); Pepsi Center, Denver (University of Colorado, Boulder, host); Memorial Gymnasium, Nashville, Tennessee (Vanderbilt University, host); Ted Constant Convocation Center, Norfolk, Virginia (Old Dominion University, host); Sovereign Bank Arena, Trenton, New Jersey (Rider University and Metro Atlantic Athletic Conference, hosts); McKale Center, Tucson, Arizona (University of Arizona, host); Bryce Jordan Center, University Park, Pennsylvania (Pennsylvania State University, host); and Mackey Arena, West Lafayette, Indiana (Purdue University, host).

The women's basketball committee voted to change the names for the first- and second-round and regional sites from region designations (East, Mideast, Midwest and West) to city-name designations (i.e., Dallas First and Second Rounds, Philadelphia Regional).

The committee designated the competition dates for the 2005 regional sites: games at the Chattanooga and Tempe regionals will be Saturday, March 26 and Monday, March 28; games at the Kansas City and Philadelphia regionals will be Sunday, March 27 and Tuesday, March 29.

Effective with the 2005 championship, the committee established the format for the first and second rounds to be four games (two two-game sessions) on one day for the first round and two games (one two-game session) for the second round, and increased the minimum ticket prices for first and second rounds, and regionals to $35 for adults, $20 for all children, high school and college students for all-session tickets, and $20 for adults, $25 for all children, high school and college students, for single-session tickets.

In September, the Division I Championships/Competition Cabinet approved the women's basketball committee's proposals to conduct regional sessions of the tournament at neutral sites and for regional bid specifications to include the opportunity for a host to bid for one year or two consecutive years, beginning with the 2007 championship.

In October, the women's basketball committee designated the competition dates for the 2006 regional sites: games at the Albuquerque and San Antonio regionals will be Saturday, March 25 and Monday, March 27; games at the Bridgeport and Cleveland regionals will be Sunday, March 26 and Tuesday, March 28.

In November, the women's basketball committee and ESPN announced that the bracket announcement for the Division I Women's Basketball Championship will be moved from Sunday to the Monday before the start of competition at 7 p.m. Eastern time, beginning in 2006.

2005 The championship bracket remained at 64 teams, with 31 eligible conferences awarded automatic qualification.

For the third consecutive year, all 63 games in 29 broadcast windows were televised live on ESPN and ESPN2. Overall, the tournament was viewed by an estimated 60.4 million viewers and rated 1.27 on ESPN and 0.56 on ESPN2. The games on ESPN2 averaged 491,000 households for the most-viewed tournament games in ESPN2 history, while the games on ESPN averaged 1,130,000 households, the second most-viewed tournament games in ESPN history.

In an ESPN first, Tennessee head coach Pat Summitt's record-breaking 880th win in the Lady Vols' second-round game versus Purdue was captured live on six domestic ESPN television networks – ESPN, ESPN2, ESPNU, ESPNNEWS, ESPN Classic and ESPN Deportes. The entire game was carried on ESPNU and ESPN2, while the other networks joined live with less than two minutes to go and stayed through Summitt's postgame interview.

Women's Final Four: Indianapolis. Teams: Baylor, LSU, Michigan and Tennessee. Baylor (33-3) defeated Michigan State, 84-62, to capture its first NCAA Division I women's basketball championship. The 22-point winning margin was the second-highest in a national championship game, behind Tennessee's 23-point (67-44) victory over Louisiana Tech in 1987. Baylor head coach Kim Mulkey-Robertson became the first woman to win a Division I basketball championship as a player (Louisiana Tech in 1982) and a coach. She also won the NCAA title as assistant coach at Louisiana Tech in 1988.

The national semifinals featured two of the most exciting back-to-back, come-from-behind games in tournament history. In the first semifinal, Baylor came from 15 points down to beat LSU, 68-57. Michigan State followed in the second semifinal with a comeback of its own, rallying from a 16-point deficit to defeat Tennessee, 68-64. The Women's Final Four sold out for the 14th (13th consecutive) time with 28,937 in attendance for each session.

The three games of the Women's Final Four averaged the most viewers (2,254,000 households) and a rating of 2.5 on ESPN. The two national semifinal games averaged 2,197,000 households and a 2.45 rating. The Baylor-Michigan State national championship game carried a 2.6 rating for 2,369,000 households.

In July, the women's basketball committee selected the following first- and second-round sites for the 2007 and 2008 championships: 2007 First and Second Rounds - Frank Erwin Center, Austin, Texas (University of Texas at Austin, host); Breslin Student Events Center, East Lansing, Michigan (Michigan State University, host); Hartford Civic Center, Hartford, Connecticut (University of Connecticut, host); Galen Center, Los Angeles (University of Southern California, host); Williams Arena, Minneapolis (University of Minnesota, Twin Cities, host); Petersen Events Center, Pittsburgh (University of Pittsburgh, host); RBC Center, Raleigh, North Carolina (North Carolina State University, host); and Maples Pavilion, Stanford,

2006 The championship bracket remained at 64 teams, with 31 eligible conferences awarded automatic qualification.

Women's Final Four: Boston. Teams: Duke, LSU, Maryland and North Carolina. Maryland (34-4) defeated Duke (31-4), 78-75 in overtime, to capture its first NCAA Division I women's basketball championship. Arguably one of the most exciting championship games in the history of the event, Maryland came from 13 points down in the second half and sent the game to overtime on a three-point field goal by freshman Kristi Toliver with six seconds to play in regulation. The Terrapins took over from there as Final Four Most Outstanding Player Laura Harper tied for team-high honors with 16 points. For the first time, the national semifinals featured three schools from the same conference, as Duke, Maryland and North Carolina all arrived from the Atlantic Coast Conference. In the first semifinal, Harper led Maryland with 24 points as the Terrapins scored an 81-70 victory over North Carolina. Duke followed in the second semifinal with a resounding 64-45 win over LSU as the Blue Devils held the Tigers to 29.0 percent shooting from the field. The Women's Final Four sold out for the 15th time (14th consecutive) with 18,642 in attendance for each session.

For the fourth consecutive year, all 63 games were televised live on ESPN and ESPN2. The 2006 championship earned record numbers on ESPN. The national championship game overtime thriller between Maryland and Duke averaged a 3.1 household rating on ESPN, up 19 percent over last year's 2.6 rating for Baylor-Michigan State. That closed out the most-watched women's NCAA tournament ever on ESPN, which averaged a 1.4 rating to match the 2004 tournament. It also averaged 1.32 million total households, 31 percent better than 2005 and best in tournament history.

In July, the women's basketball committee selected the following first- and second-round sites for the 2009 and 2010 championships: 2009 First and Second Rounds - The Pit/Bob King Court, Albuquerque, N.M. Women's Final Four: Tampa, Florida. Teams: Connecticut, LSU, Stanford and Tennessee. Tennessee (36-2) defeated Stanford (35-4), 64-48, to capture its second consecutive and tournament-record eighth NCAA Division I women's basketball championship. The Lady Volunteers grabbed a 10-7 lead on a Shannon Bobbitt three-point field goal with 16:35 remaining in the first half and never relinquished the advantage. A strong defensive effort by Tennessee limited Stanford to a 38.8 percent shooting effort from the field and the Cardinal could get no closer than four points in the second half. Women's Final Most Outstanding Player Candace Parker led the way with 17 points for Tennessee, while Bobbitt added 13 points. Center Nicky Anosike contributed 12 points and eight rebounds for Tennessee. Jayne Appel led Stanford with 16 points and Candice Wiggins scored 14. In the first semifinal, Wiggins scored 25 points to lead Stanford to an 82-73 win over Connecticut (36-2), which was held to 38.8 percent shooting from the field. Freshman sensation Maya Moore scored 20 points to lead the Huskies. Tennessee followed in the second semifinal with a heart-pounding 47-46 victory over LSU (31-6). Alexis Hornbuckle of the Lady Volunteers tipped in a miss by Anosike with one second remaining for the game-winning points. Parker led Tennessee with 13 points, with LSU senior center Sylvia Fowles racked up 24 points and 20 rebounds. Joining Parker, Bobbitt and Anosike on the All-Tournament Team were Wiggins and Fowles.

The Women's Final Four sold out for the 17th time (16th consecutive) with 21,655 in attendance for each session. The attendance for all rounds (236,464) during the 2008 championship was the best since 2004, the last time that 16 predetermined sites were used for first- and second-round games, a format that will be implemented for the 2009 championship. The overall average per session (6,955) ranks sixth all-time in the 27-year history of the championship, while the total attendance was the 10th-largest all-time.

The 2008 championship marked ESPN's sixth consecutive year of televising all 63 games of the NCAA Division I Women's Basketball Championship and the 13th year overall of exclusive coverage. During the first two rounds, ESPN and ESPN2 presented 48 games within 13 telecast windows in a whip-around format with home market protection. ESPN FULL COURT -- ESPN's out-of-market pay-per-view package -- and ESPN360.com, its signature live broadband sports network, offered complete game telecasts of all 48 games. In addition, ESPN2 provided full national telecasts of eight early-round games.
