2017 CHAMPIONSHIP

HIGHLIGHTS

Sophomore Steph Colson scored with 2:57 left and Gettysburg women's lacrosse rode out the remaining time after winning the final draw control to secure its second Division III women's lacrosse championship with a 6-5 victory over top-ranked TCNJ on Sunday at Kerr Stadium on the campus of Roanoke College. Gettysburg (21-3) earned its second national championship in its first appearance in the title game since 2011. The seventh-ranked Bullets avenged a one-goal regular season defeat at the hands of TCNJ (19-2) by netting the final two goals of the game in response to a four-goal run by the Lions.

"It was a hard-fought victory," said head coach Carol Cantele. "Two exceptional teams giving it their all, battling to the final finish. I'm so proud of the fight that our players had and their hustle and heart."

Colson posted a pair of goals and added a second national title to the family mantle, with younger sister Lizzie helping Maryland win the Division I title over Boston College earlier Sunday afternoon. The Gettysburg sophomore took care of business late in the game, completing a clear attempt and beating her defender with a strong charge to the cage.

Gettysburg's second national crown did not come without its share of adversity. The Bullets carried a 4-1 lead into the break, but TCNJ mounted a second-half comeback. Mia Blackman kicked off a four-goal run with a free-position goal with 25:58 to play. Kathleen Jaeger, first-cousin to Gettysburg's Jaeger, tallied the game-tying goal with 17 minutes left.

The defenses pitched a shutout over the next nine minutes before Kathleen Jaeger snuck through the defense and ripped a shot into the net to make it 5-4 with 8:34 left. But the Bullets did not fold under pressure. After Caroline Jaeger controlled the ball for Gettysburg, freshman Courtney Patterson found a seam in the defense and forced her way to the front of the cage for the equalizer with 7:36 to go.

"I think it speaks to their mentality all year," Cantele said. "They know the game isn't over until the final whistle blows. They've focused all season on being in the now and thinking strong and being fully present."

After getting beat 5-1 on draws in the first half, Gettysburg grabbed 6 of 7 draw controls in Period 2. The Bullets managed to grab the ensuing draw and ran two minutes off the clock before a turnover. The miscue didn't prove costly as junior Ali Gorab caused a turnover and Keeler recovered the ground ball.

That set the stage for Colson's late-game heroics in just her fifth game back from an injury that sidelined her seven weeks. Junior Katie Willis fought her way to the final draw control to seal the victory. Gettysburg's passing was pristine as the team evaded the last-ditch effort to regain possession by TCNJ.

Gettysburg tied the program record for victories in a season and shattered the program and conference record for goals-against average at 4.78. Keeler finished with the lowest single-season GAA by a player at 5.00, while closing her career with a record 66 wins.
