Individual Records

Official NCAA volleyball records began with the 1981 season and are based on information submitted to the NCAA statistics service by institutions participating in the statistics rankings. In statistical rankings, the rounding of percentages and/or averages may indicate ties where none exists. In these cases, the numerical order of the rankings is accurate.

The format of a match changed in 2008. The term "game" was changed to "set." Also, scoring for each set moved from 30 points to 25 points, except in matches that go to the full five sets, in which the winning score in the fifth set remains 15 points.

The match format previously changed in 2001, with scoring for each set moving from 15 points to 30 points, except in matches that went to the full five sets, in which the winning score in the fifth set remained 15 points.

In reflection of these changes, category leaders under the different scoring formats are separated in order to not eliminate the achievements of those student-athletes who played with the previous format.

Information on blocking has not been included in the following records since there appeared to be a significant variance in the methods by which blocking statistics were kept during the 1980s. Research continues to determine a standard by which to measure blocking statistics for NCAA record-keeping purposes.

Official career records include players whose career statistics were recorded during the era of official NCAA play.

A national semifinal match is indicated by (NSF), a national third-place game by (N3d) and a national championship game by (CH).

Team Records

Official NCAA volleyball records began with the 1981 season and are based on information submitted to the NCAA statistics service by institutions participating in the statistics rankings. In statistical rankings, the rounding of percentages and/or averages may indicate ties where none exists. In these cases, the numerical order of the rankings is accurate.

The format of a match changed in 2008. The term “game” was changed to “set.” Also, scoring for each set moved from 30 points to 25 points, except in matches that go to the full five sets, in which the winning score in the fifth set remains 15 points.

The match format previously changed in 2001, with scoring for each set moving from 15 points to 30 points, except in matches that went to the full five sets, in which the winning score in the fifth set remained 15 points.

In reflection of these changes, category leaders under the different scoring formats are separated in order to not eliminate the achievements of those student-athletes who played with the previous format.

Information on blocking has not been included in the following records since there appeared to be a significant variance in the methods by which blocking statistics were kept during the 1980s. Research continues to determine a standard by which to measure blocking statistics for NCAA record-keeping purposes.

Official career records include players whose career statistics were recorded during the era of official NCAA play.

Individual Records

Official NCAA volleyball records began with the 1981 season and are based on information submitted to the NCAA statistics service by institutions participating in the statistics rankings. In statistical rankings, the rounding of percentages and/or averages may indicate ties where none exists. In these cases, the numerical order of the rankings is accurate.

The format of a match changed in 2008. The term “game” was changed to “set.” Also, scoring for each set moved from 30 points to 25 points, except in matches that go to the full five sets, in which the winning score in the fifth set remains 15 points.

The match format previously changed in 2001, with scoring for each set moving from 15 points to 30 points, except in matches that went to the full five sets, in which the winning score in the fifth set remained 15 points.

In reflection of these changes, category leaders under the different scoring formats are separated in order to not eliminate the achievements of those student-athletes who played with the previous format.

Information on blocking has not been included in the following records since there appeared to be a significant variance in the methods by which blocking statistics were kept during the 1980s. Research continues to determine a standard by which to measure blocking statistics for NCAA record-keeping purposes.

Team Records

Official NCAA volleyball records began with the 1981 season and are based on information submitted to the NCAA statistics service by institutions participating in the statistics rankings. In statistical rankings, the rounding of percentages and/or averages may indicate ties where none exists. In these cases, the numerical order of the rankings is accurate.

The format of a match changed in 2008. The term “game” was changed to “set.” Also, scoring for each set moved from 30 points to 25 points, except in matches that go to the full five sets, in which the winning score in the fifth set remains 15 points.

The match format previously changed in 2001, with scoring for each set moving from 15 points to 30 points, except in matches that went to the full five sets, in which the winning score in the fifth set remained 15 points.

In reflection of these changes, category leaders under the different scoring formats are separated in order to not eliminate the achievements of those student-athletes who played with the previous format.

Information on blocking has not been included in the following records since there appeared to be a significant variance in the methods by which blocking statistics were kept during the 1980s. Research continues to determine a standard by which to measure blocking statistics for NCAA record-keeping purposes.

DIVISION I

2009 Championship

Highlights

Penn State Erases Two-Set Deficit To Take Unprecedented Third Straight Crown Over Texas: Since before the season started, this was the matchup that the college volleyball world had dreamed of. And did it turn out to be a sweet reality.

One of the most highly anticipated NCAA championship matches of all-time delivered in every way possible, ending with No. 1 Penn State (38-0) becoming the first team to claim three consecutive national titles, with a 22-25, 20-25, 25-23, 25-21, 15-13 victory over second-seeded Texas (29-2) on December 19 in the St. Pete Times Forum.

Penn State and Texas held the top two spots in every version of the AVCA poll this season, occupied the top two seeds in the NCAA tournament and lost just one set apiece in the tournament en route to advancing to the title match. Their combined 66-1 record coming in was the second-best ever among teams in the final. Despite the high expectations, this match didn't disappoint - delivering an individual performance for the ages, high-level play all the way and a stirring comeback from the champions.

In what seemed to be fitting, the match came down to one final set—and it was just as exciting as the rest of the match.

The score was tied for the 10th time in the fifth at 12-12, when Darcy Dorton's kill nudged Penn State ahead. On the next point, Texas' Destinee Hooker sent an attack attempt long, which gave the Nittany Lions a match point. After a timeout, Juliann Faucette put down a kill from the right side to pull Texas to within one, at 14-13. But National Player of the Year Megan Hodge took a big swing from the left side that would ricochet off the Texas libero's hands and into press row to give the Nittany Lions an improbable comeback and the title. It matched the closest fifth set in NCAA title match history (UCLA def. Stanford by that fifth-set score in 1984).

Hodge—a four-year First-Team All-American—led her team with 21 kills, 13 digs and five blocks. Penn State also got 13 kills and 14 digs from Blair Brown, plus 13 kills on .323 hitting from Darcy Dorton, 22 digs and two aces from Alyssa D'Errico and nine blocks from Fatima Balza.

For a while it seemed as though perhaps part of the reason that Penn State was able to win an NCAA-record 102 women's volleyball matches in a row was that none of those came against Hooker. The athletic-beyond-description senior outside hitter put on an unbelievable show, finishing with a career-high 34 kills on .316 hitting to go with 17 digs, as well as three blocks and a pair of service aces. She was named the tournament's Most Outstanding Player.

"Hooker is an unbelievable player," said Penn State head coach Russ Rose.

In the opening set, Hooker had a kill that pulled the Longhorns even at 22-22 and then scored the final two points of the frame on kills. Hooker—who looked every bit the four-time NCAA high jump champion that she is—led all players with five kills and with eight digs and threw in two service aces in the opening frame. The second set might as well have been a showcase of her talents. She posted 11 kills—one more than the entire Penn State team—including a stretch of eight kills in 10 points to put Texas in control. In set three, Hooker again led every player on the floor with seven kills. The fourth set finally saw her fall just shy of leading everyone in kills, but she still added six kills and six digs, plus a block to her match totals. In the fifth, she delivered with five more kills and three digs, but it proved to be not quite enough.

After five Division I teams before had won back-to-back national championships in women's volleyball but failed to claim a third title in a row, Penn State succeeded. The Nittany Lions posted their second consecutive undefeated season after a perfect season had been achieved just three times in the previous 27 years of NCAA Division I women's volleyball. Penn State also joined the 1982 Hawaii team and the 1991 UCLA squad as the only ones to rally to win the NCAA title match after dropping the first two sets—something that, incidentally, Penn State had never done during its winning streak.

Texas outhit Penn State for the match, .251-.234, and had one more dig (81-80) and one more service ace (5-4). But the Nittany Lions had a slight edge in blocks (14-12) and made just eight service errors, compared with 14 for Texas.

It marked the second consecutive season that Texas ended its season by dropping a match in which the Longhorns won the first two sets. In 2008, Texas did so against Stanford before falling in five in the semifinals.

Penn State junior outside hitter Arielle Wilson had nine kills on .348 hitting and finished the season with an attack percentage of .540. That sets an NCAA Division I record, besting the previous mark of .519 by Tyrone Clark of Florida A&M in 1988.

Rachael Adams had 11 kills and .529 hitting to go with six blocks in the losing effort for Texas, while Faucette finished with 10 kills and seven blocks. Ashley Engle had eight kills, 14 digs and two service aces, while Heather Kisner led all players with 26 digs.

Right from the start, it was clear that this match was going to be at a different level. The first nine points of the match ended in eight kills and a service ace—with no attack errors. The level didn't drop much the rest of the way, though some great floor defense—something that often gets overlooked on these teams—drove the hitting percentages down.

It was back and forth for much of the set, a frame that would have 10 tie scores. Penn State edged out to a 22-19 advantage, though, before Texas reeled off six points in a row, including three kills from Hooker, a kill and an ace from Engle, and a huge triple block by Faucette, Adams and Amber Roberson on Hodge with the score tied at 22-22. The three-point margin was, remarkably, the largest margin of defeat for Penn State in any set this season. But that would be surpassed in set two.

Texas went on another run in the second set—this one set off by a pair of Penn State errors (a service error and a bad set). That was the only opening the Longhorns would need, as for a time, it wasn't as much a volleyball match as a spectacular showcase of Hooker's ability. After Penn State used a kill and an error to cut the advantage to 10-8, Hooker took over. Eight of the next 10 points ended in kills by her, a rare display. Mercifully for Penn State, the Longhorns committed a service error (they had six through the first two sets) that led to Hooker rotating out of the front row, but Texas went on to take the set.

"We are seniors, and we came in at intermission and knew we had to step it up," Hodge said. "We had to do that for our team. We should have been carrying our team. It was the hardest fight we've had in our lives, but we're so happy right now."

After the break, Penn State came out like a team that wasn't quite ready to taste defeat for the first time in more than two years. The refocused Nittany Lions built a lead of as many as six early (11-5) and then edged that out to an 18-11 advantage. The Longhorns would rally to make it interesting, but couldn't get closer than to within two.

The fourth set was tight most of the way, but at 22-21, Penn State got a kill on a slide from Wilson and then survived a long rally that ended on a Texas ball-handling error. On set point, it was Hodge pounding her seventh kill of the set.

With the victory, Penn State seniors Hodge, Glass and Kelsey Ream concluded their careers with a 142-5 record. That .966 winning percentage is the best ever for a Division I class, topping Penn State's 1999 group that was 133-7 (.950).

"They just won three national championships in a row," Rose said. "Not a lot of people have done stuff like that. They just willed us to the win."
